

Xperion

7th
science

ultravital

Following a secret experiment, the disasters that have developed on the planet Xperion have significantly depleted water supplies.

While on the one hand you struggle with the difficult living conditions, on the other, you will try to be successful in this game that takes place on the planet Xperion.

Your lives are dependent on each other. So, how openly will you be able to communicate? How much will you be able to trust each other? How much will you be able to understand each other's needs?

In which areas will you be able to get on?

Communication skills

Effect of openness and trust on communication quality

Win/win perspective

Effective communication in negotiations